

War in Art - Written Assignment

To the left are three images that show three very different images of violence. The three images show images from different periods, different wars, are made using different material and show different sort of scene.

For this assignment you must place the images in a 1, 2, 3 order. Image 1 shows in the image (in your opinion) the greatest degree of violence, then follows no.2 and no.3.

For this order there is no right or wrong answer, it is your own opinion.

You must then write a three hundred word text where you present your reasoning behind your choice. It is the quality of your explanation and your ideas that you present that will be marked. Three hundred words is not that many so make sure that you don't waste words or sentences where you aren't actually saying anything.

This is an assignment that will require you to look carefully, think critically, form YOUR OWN OPINION and explain it clearly.

The three images on the left show:

- Goya's 3rd May 1808, that was painted in 1814
- A photograph taken after the aerial bombing of the city of Dresden during the Second World War.
- A photograph of a street execution during the Vietnam War in 1968
